Get Creative!

Directions: Using your imagination can be fun. Follow the instructions to complete the story for each of the scenarios below. Use another sheet of paper if your creative juices really start to flow!

1. Your school cafeteria is picking new kinds of bread to serve for lunch, and you are an official taste tester! Write a short story about the different breads you try and which bread you choose.

2. You are an overdue library book at the bottom of a very, very messy locker. A student opens the locker every day and puts more stuff inside but never cleans it out. Write about what it is like to live inside the locker, from the library book's point of view.

3. Pretend you are a sticker or a lollipop in a doctor's office. You get to go home with a kid who just got vaccines. Write about what you saw when the kid got shots today.
